

----- Original Message -----

From:

To:

Sent: Saturday, July 03, 2010 8:29 PM

Subject: The new church secretary

I heard of a new convert, who was a bit of a rough diamond, constantly pleading with his pastor for a job in the church. In desperation, the pastor finally gave him a list of names, saying, "These are members of the church who haven't been to church in years; Write them a letter and urge them to come back to church. Use the church stationery if you want."

The man accepted the challenge with enthusiasm.

About three weeks later, a letter arrived from a well-known local physician, whose name was on the list. In the envelope was a cheque for $5000 and a note:

"Dear Pastor, Please find enclosed a cheque to make up for my back tithes. I'm sorry for missing church so often, but be assured I will be there this Sunday.

P.S. Would you please tell your secretary that there is only one 't' in 'dirty' and no 'c' in skunk."

Most of us could use a secretary like that!